LEARNING AFTER COVID

The Covid-19 pandemic caught the educational system unaware. It created abrupt and sudden changes around the world. This was one of the biggest disturbances to the education system in decades with the schools closures for the longest period of time. Though remote learning is appreciated, it can't be the substitute for classroom teaching. A substantial loss has happened and a large learning gap is created

The role of the teacher in a child's education after schools opened their gates post the pandemic is completely changed. They can't follow any more teacher-centred methods "Sage on Stage." The community needs to understand that students aren't consumers of facts. They are active creators of knowledge. The seeds of such indomitable transformation in education are already planted. Every school needs to restructure its pedagogy.

Learning is a process where new knowledge, skills, behaviours and beliefs are gained by an individual or group. Learning theories provide a pedagogical basis for understanding how learners learn. Behaviourism describes learning as a change in behaviour based on a reaction to environmental conditions. Cognitive theory attempts to explain human behaviour by understanding the thought processes. The assumptions are that humans are logical beings that make the choices most sense to them. For Vygotsky learning is primarily by building up knowledge as we interact with other people through language. Experiential learning involves learning from experience and was proposed by psychologist David Kolb. According to Kolb, knowledge results from the combination of grasping and transforming experiences.

Leading the way teachers need to reinvent themselves and their occupation to better serve school and students. Constant professional development courses to adopt new practices that acknowledge the Art and Science of learning to be provided to teachers.

Teachers must be encouraged to adapt their teaching according to the learning needs of the learners and provide specific timely and frequent feedback to help the learners understand where they are. Create a challenging but secure environment in the classroom; differentiate instructions according to the needs of the learners.

The fundamental job of teaching is to help children learn how to think critically, solve problems, make informed judgements and create knowledge that benefits both society and students.

“THERE IS MORE TREASURE IN BOOKS THAN IN ALL THE PIRATE’S LOOT ON TREASURE ISLAND.”
— WALT DISNEY

RAISE A R(L)EADER

Reading is one of the most important life skills for anyone to possess. Inculcating the skill of reading in young minds is crucial as it can help shape their future success. Being literate not only improves one’s knowledge and understanding but also creates a bridge between cultures and ideas. In this article, we will delve into the ways in which the reading skill can be nurtured in young minds.

Reading is a habit that must be encouraged from an early age and the best way to do this is to expose young children to books. Parents should start reading to their children as soon as possible, even before their child has started speaking. As children grow older, they should be encouraged to read on their own, providing them with age-appropriate books and magazines that align with their interests.

It's crucial to foster a reading culture in the home. This involves designating a space for reading, promoting reading as a pastime, and allocating time for family reading. Making a reading environment guarantees that kids get the tools and motivation they need to develop reading habits.

Reading enhances vocabulary, language, comprehension, writing and cognitive skills. Encouraging young minds to read widely and often will improve communication and critical thinking abilities. Maintaining continuity on this journey by constantly encouraging young readers is essential, as they need ongoing motivation to become lifelong readers.

In conclusion, inculcating reading skills in the young mind is a significant factor in shaping their future

IMPORTANCE OF NUTRITION IN CHILDREN

“It is health that is real wealth and not pieces of gold and silver.” - Mahatma Gandhi

Food is an important source of energy and it helps us in doing our daily activities effectively. If there is a deficiency in the amount of nutrition that we receive, we are all prone to feel tired and other physical ailments might become evident. Nutrition is extremely important for any age group but it becomes more important in children. They are constantly growing and need the right amount of nutrition, at the right time to help them grow into healthy individuals. Providing knowledge to children about what a balanced and healthy diet consists of, is also very important. This can help them develop a habit of healthy eating and hence develop a healthy attitude towards food. Different food provides different nutrients to the body and for children, it is important to have the right proportion of all the important nutrients. This includes not just the macro-nutrients like carbohydrates, proteins etc. but also the micro-nutrients like vitamins and minerals. Having such a balanced diet filled with fruits and vegetables will provide them with the energy to get through their active schedules. Not only that, it also helps in healthy brain development and improves concentration, memory etc. Drinking enough water is also something that should be taken care of since water is extremely important. An increase or decrease in any of the nutrition can cause harm to the body and hence the right proportion of nutrients is necessary for that particular age group.

In conclusion, the right balance of nutrients and water should be taken off in growing children for their healthy physical and mental development.

MENTAL WELLNESS

The Soaring Falcon

"These days, we understand the value of keeping physical health in order to keep our bodies in good shape, but we often ignore the value of maintaining mental health.

Almost all facets of life, including a person's spiritual, emotional, physical, social, and mental well-being, must be balanced in order to maintain good mental health. A person's mental health affects even the smallest details of life, which end up being the most significant because it helps them develop a positive attitude towards themselves and others, which in turn helps them maintain interpersonal relationships, which are crucial to their quality of life. Positive attitude development also encourages people to be open to new and challenging experiences.

It helps an individual to increase productivity. Maintaining good mental health also helps in developing coping mechanisms to overcome or face complex situations and helps them shape it in a positive way. With all that is happening around it is important to keep our mental health in check. Mental health services are provided by several different professions, each of which has its own training and area of expertise, finding the right professional is an important part of the process of treatment and recovery.

A minimum master's degree is required in psychology for any mental health professional to start practising.

बादल

बादल, बादल कितना सुन्दर दिखता बादल ।
 पल पल में आकार बदलता बादल ।
 एक बार दिखता निराले हिमालय ।
 दूसरी बार दिखता सुन्दर आलय ।
 जब मेरा मन दुखी होती ।
 तब मैं छत के ऊपर जाती ।
 एकांत से आसमान को देखती ।
 देखते ही देखते सुन्दर -सा फरी हुई थी खडी ।
 अचानक उनकी नजर मेरी ऊपर पड़ी ।

मेरी ऊपर घुमाई छडी
 मेरा दुःख - दर्द हो गई ठंडी ।
 कुछ ही पलों में दूर हो गई परेशानी ।
 मैं खुशी से झूम उठी ।

Spring brings green leaves

The butterflies sit on the flower

That's why I love spring.

THE GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT

Once upon a time, there lived a poor family. One day a boy in the family wanted to go to school and study, but they were poor also they decided to admit the boy to a school. When they entered the school, the principal started making fun of them by seeing their clothes and personality, and the principal told "No we cannot give admission to these kinds of kids but the school didn't know that the boy had so much talent and skills. The family requested the principal to admit the boy, but the principal did not accept. On that day, they decided that he would build a bigger school than that school, and as he grew up he started working on his goal. As he decided, he built a layout with schools, colleges, workplaces and everything, so that poor people can stay in the layout. And that day his childhood school principal called him and apologized to him for whatever she did in the past. Do you know the school and who built it? Yes! JOURNEY TO THE END OF ...

Human life is a race between evolution and extinction. And Earth provides us with every materialistic gain, to make us join this race. But over the course of time man has forgotten that the well-being of his planet should be a part of his prime concerns. But not everyone has forgotten the art of joining hands with mother earth. One such person is Tishani Doshi, he is on a mission to take young minds to the ends of the Earth to learn and foster new understanding and inculcate a sense of care and concern towards our planet. He stresses his intention of taking only students as they are going to be the future craftsmen of new ways and notions to build a new healthy Earth. He feels that students have the mindset and readiness to absorb, learn and most importantly act. I feel that the title "JOURNEY TO THE END OF THE EARTH" portrays how man's journey is eventually towards the inevitable death, but human greed is making it seem like the journey to the inevitable destruction of Earth.

We also get to see a contrast between manly comforts and the extremity of nature, which gives us insight that man has created so much and made a world for himself that he has forgotten about the vastness of nature and that life thrives even in the tiniest nook and corner of this world beyond his creation. And we all know that the indications of the future of mankind aren't the most desirable, hence it's time that we sow in our minds a new protocol to stand with nature and not against it. We can lend a hand to our future by fixing our ways from today.

TEACHER'S DAY SPECIAL

Teachers are the precious gem created by God
 They're the ones who deserve abundant applause.
 Without them, life would be incomplete
 Trust in them is harder than concrete.
 Without them, the world runs nothing,
 From our mother to mother earth, they're everything
 We're born with nothing.
 Our mother brings up us to live with etiquette throughout our life,
 Educators who give meaning to our lives and make us sharp like a knife.
 Making us strong enough by throwing many challenges,
 To prepare us to overcome any strife.

When one's time comes to an end,
 Our mother earth wraps us around her sheets
 Forever protect us with her love and care in life.
 The love, care, passion and sacrifice
 Will remain forever in history.
 At the end of the day, without them which man has a victory?
 It is the duty of a disciple to understand that it is for our welfare
 They give us tough competitions, challenges and sums
 And it is our duty to go to and give what they deserve
 Fulfilling their scarcer wishes and falling on their feet.

MY COMPANION BRUNO

When a friend needs someone who cares about him, who insists on him, and gives importance to friendship is known as a true friend. In my life the true friend was my Bruno, colored in light brown. He is my best and most friendly companion. He stays with me in a terrible and happy situation. We have had a lot of good memories. He is a very strong and bold friend. But there was a companion before Bruno. He was known for his interactions with me and my feelings before his death. His name was Collar. I thought I would never have a companion like him. And nobody can replace him. Until My Grand Father introduced him as my new companion Bruno. This is how he entered my life. Knowingly or unknowingly he became the reason behind my smile. He was the person who understood me more than my parents. He taught me many life lessons-being bold, facing all difficulties and more on. He is a companion for my life, So it is the reason. I cannot choose any incident that I have experienced and at the same it is because of his existence. He is like a life saver for drowning souls and feelings. I believe that nothing can break my friendship with Bruno.

BLOG: A TRIP TO PUDUCHERRY

At 5 am my mom woke me up. I freshened up. It was very cold. I sat in the car enjoying the beautiful view and listening to my playlist. Bangalore looked even more beautiful in the morning with the fog settling down. After we crossed the border of Karnataka and Tamil Nadu, I saw how the language written on the boards changed from Kannada to Tamil. As we travelled through villages, I saw children merrily playing in cloth swings, cattle grazing in the green field, etc. Tamil Nadu is all about its film industry, Tollywood. I saw banners, flexes, and boards of famous actors like ThalapathyVijay and Ajith Kumar. We finally reached Puducherry. It is not a state, it's a union territory. Pondicherry was captured by the Dutch in 1693 but was returned to a France company. We went to a beach that had a white structure surrounded by granite pillars housing a bronze statue of the independence leader. My mom and I sat on the rock while my brother and dad played on the beach. I closed my eyes as the wind blew through my face. We reached our hotel, Hotel Tamizh Park, where we were going to stay. The next day, we went to Aurobindo ashram and we were told to maintain silence as we could see people meditating. There were colourful flowers planted resulting in a fresh aroma. The place was filled with silence and peace. The next day we went to Auroville. It was founded in 1968 by Mirra Alfassa and designed by architect Roger Anger. Then we travelled back to Bangalore. This trip to Puducherry was awesome.

PARAGRAPH ON UNITY

Unity is the strength which holds the peace together as a single work of literary art, which wins the situation of people in agreement working together. It helps our India to be a land where unity and diversity go hand in hand. Unity is the junction which joins East and West with several platforms to see better days soon side by side. It teaches us that caste is a state of mind and cannot be abolished. Without a social union, political unity is difficult to be achieved. Let us pay tribute to this divine soul by spreading the message of unity.

The Soaring Falcon

“Commitment unlocks the doors of imagination, allows vision and gives us the right stuff to turn our dreams into reality”. This quote of James Weneck is very true to the Soundarya Editorial Board and all others who contributed unanimously. The concerted effort of all resulted in a pen portrait of SCS and The Soaring Falcon continues to keep up the vision of the institution evergreen. This newsletter showcases the record of events, celebrations, and accomplishments of students and faculty. Working together, the work, the will, and the pleasure in doing it helped us realize that nothing is impossible, and creating a souvenir is a great credit.
